

I only care about victims, survivors. Believe them, support them. Honestly, I don't give a fuck that Chris or whoever feels sorry or whatever. Nothing at all for more than a month, then a miserable and shameless statement. Plus, after decades nobody understand that they "live" with a fuckin' rapist predator? C'mon...

I have no energy for him/them. I really don't care about him/them. They betrayed our trust (and not only ours) with their fake bullshits which they probably didn't even believe!

Only we believe in those things. Me and all of you I'm sure still believe. But for them it was just an attitude. They took us for a ride.
